VACANT SENATE SEAT

Senator Isham G. Harris of Tennessee Passes Away.

IDENTIFIED WITH WAR HISTORY.

Congressional Career Began
Half a Century Ago.

Washington, July 9.—Senator Isham
G. Harris of Tennessee died at his residence here a few minutes before 10 o'clock yesterday afternoon. The senator had been growing constantly weaker for several days past, the intense summer
heat which has prevailed greatly debilitating him and no doubt hastening his end. There were times when he would rally slightly, which gave his family hopes that he would be able to regain strength sufficient to be removed from the city, but his vitality had become too much exhausted to withstand the strain. During the afternoon he sank rapidly and passed away peacefully. Among those present at his bedside when death came were one of his sons, Edward C. Harris, and Representative Benton McMillin of Tennessee.
Senator Harris was last in the senate chamber about 10 days ago, but he was unable to stay for any length of time
and had to be taken home in a carriage.
During the past six months the senator
had been able to attend to his duties
only at intervals, having been away
from the city several times endeavoring to recuperate.

Probably no man in public life had been identified with more of the history
of this country than had Senator Harris.
He had almost completed his 78th year,
having been born in February, 1819, and first became a member of congress in 1849. His congressional career thus began earlier than that of any member of either house, ante-dating Senators Morrill and Sherman by seven years, and Hon. Galusha A. Grover, now a member of the house from Pennsylvania, by one year. Mr. Harris had, when he was elected to the national house of representatives, already become a man of state reputation in Tennessee, having previously served as a presidential elector of the Democratic ticket, and two before been elected a member of the legislature of the state.

Mr. Harris represented the Ninth Tennessee district in congress for two terms, ending in 1853, when he declined a renomination. He then moved to Memphis, where he had since resided.
Here he was engaged in the practice of law until 1857, with the interruption
necessary to allow him to become a presidential elector in 1856. He was three times in succession before the war beginning in 1857, elected governor of his state, and was serving in that capacity when the war broke out. He took a pronounced stand for the Southern Confederacy, and was known as one of the Southern war governors. The vicisstudes of conflict rendered a frequent change of residence necessary, and he was often with the army in the field.
He attached himself at different times
to the staffs of General Albert Sidney Johnston, Joseph E. Johnston, Beauregard and Bragg. Albert Sidney Johnston fell from his horse into Senator
Harris' arms when he received his death
wound. After Lee's surrender Mr.
Harris was one of a small party of political refugees who escaped to Mexico,
going across country on horseback.

Parson Brownlow, who had become the military governor of Tennessee, offered a large reward in a characteris-tically worded poster for the capture of his predecessor, but the latter remained absent from the country until his return was made. He remained in Mexico
for several months, going thence to England, where he remained until 1867, when he returned to Memphis and resumed his practice of the law. Mr. Harris was allowed to follow the pursuits of the private citizen until 1877, when he was elected to the United States senate, defeating Hon. L. L. Hawkins, Republican.
He had remained a member of the senate ever since, and would have completed his 20th consecutive year in that body on the 4th of next March if he had lived to that date. He had been four times elected to the senate, the last time
in 1895.

Senator Harris had received almost all the honors that the senate could bestow. He was the president pro tempore
during the Fifty-third congress, a leading member of the committees of finance and rules, and also of the Democratic advocacy or standing committee.
He had long been awarded by common consent the front place on both sides of the chamber in parliamentary questions, and in recent years he had been more frequently heard in expounding
these questions than in the elucidation of other subjects. He was possessed of every positive manner, and never failed to throw into his statements concerning parliamentary practice the fullest force of which he was capable. His language on these and other occasions was generally so uncompromising that he was regarded by those who knew him not as a man of little feeling. That, however, was not true, and that the country was true, none are now so willing to testify
as his opponents in the senate, who unite

In attributing to him a warm heart, as well as a just spirit and brilliant mind.
Senator Harris has not been especially active in the senate since the passage of the Wilson-Gorman tariff act in 1894.
He was one of the three Democratic senators intrusted with the arduous duty of putting the bill in shape in committee, and to him was delegated the control of the parliamentary work of getting the bill through the senate.

Although a man of advanced years,
his energies never seemed to flag. He was at his post of duty day and night,
and no man in the opposition who sought to turn a legislative point against the bill ever caught him napping but once.
They adjourned one day earlier than he intended when he was temporarily
absent, but he made the incident so disagreeable to friend and foe that the experiment was not repeated. He was a tireless worker, and made it a point to be prompt in his attendance at committee meetings whenever able to be at the capital. He was punctilious in observing the rules of the senate.

The remains will lie in state in the marble room of the senate tomorrow
morning, and during the afternoon
funeral services will be held in the senate chamber. Accompanied by committees of the senate and house the body
will be taken to Memphis, leaving here
after the senate ceremonies.
On Monday the remains will lie in state
for a few hours at Nashville. Interment will be in the Elmwood cemetery at Memphis.

YESTERDAY'S BALL GAMES.

At Chicago.—
The Colts defeated the Boston yesterday in a 19-inning contest, the most exciting and best played yet this season.
The Boston scored their only run in the first on two singles and a wild pitch.
A double, a sacrifice and a single tied the score in the fifth, and the winning run came in the tenth, Griffith batting it in,
after a single and a steal. The Boston
played a wonderful game in the field,
but were unable to hit Griffith.

GIFT TO THE HOSPITAL.

The St. Jean Baptiste society has shown itself very thoughtful in making a handsome donation to the North Adams hospital. The society has observed how valuable the hospital has been to a number of French citizens and it wished in some way to show its appreciation. At a meeting held Wednesday night in its hall on Bank street the society voted $100 to be donated to the hospital. A check for this amount has been sent to the board of control and is now in its hands. This act will be gratefully remembered by the hospital officials and other societies may take it as an example.

A cow was killed before their eyes and
they thought their time had come.

A motion for a new trial in the Tilton-

Sultan Orders His Navy to Be Ready, and the Powers Ready to Act.

Constantinople, July 9.—There are important developments taking place today
in the relations between Turkey and the Powers. It is significant that the Turkish Dardanelles squadron has been ordered to make ready to proceed to the Island of Crete and take on board provisions for three months. The Sultan also orders all the officers of that squadron to rejoin their ships within three days. What this action means no one seems to know, but it seems to show the Sultan to be in a fighting mood.
The ambassadors of the Powers have been instructed by their respective governments about the dispatch of another note to the Turkish government, reiterating their demand for an explicit reply on the Greece-Turkey frontier question. It is thought probable they may recommend their governments to recall

them and organize a naval demonstration,
pointing out the utility of sending notes
which fail to impress the Porte, urging that a demonstration is necessary to compel Turkey to yield, and holding that otherwise progress towards the conclusion of peace cannot be expected.

The situation is very grave and it looks today as if a demonstration is about to be made against Constantinople.

HAGGERTY HELD

Accused of Assault With a Dangerous Weapon, Breaking and Entering.

BONDS $5,200 ON BOTH CHARGES

The Crime of Which Haggerty is Ac- cused. Woman Assaulted While Attending a Dying Neighbor.

Cases Go to Grand Jury.

In court this morning Bernard Haggerty, accused of assault with dangerous weapon and with breaking and entering,
was held for the grand jury in $5,200
bonds on both charges.
The testimony brought out a story similar to that told in THE TRANSCRIPT when the crime of which Haggerty is accused was committed. It will be remembered that the assault was made on Mrs. Eliza Muleahy and that she was patiently
watching at the bedside of a dying neighbor—now dead—when the attack was made.

Mrs. Muleahy was unaware of the presence of anyone until she was seized by a strong hand and a wild and burly man was beating her with a club. She received severe injuries on the head and body and was quiet ill for some time after the assault.

The police were notified and they started out in search of Haggerty. He was not in his house and was said to have taken to the woods. At an early hour
the next morning he was found and was arraigned in court. The case has been often continued because of the engagements of the lawyers concerned. It will now come up at the term of superior court which opens Monday at Pittsfield.

Haggerty produced his sister to become bail, but the court refused because her property was entailed. Satisfactory bonds were received later.

W. E. Penniman Assigns.

W. E. Penniman made an assignment
Thursday for the benefit of his creditors.
C. T. Phelps is named as the assignee.
Several large losses through bad debtors
have been sustained recently by Mr. Pen-niman, and the best he could do for his creditors was to assign. It is hoped that the creditors of W. E. Penniman & Co
may be paid in full.

City Council Meeting.

The city council will hold an adjourned meeting tonight. The matters that will come up will principally be in relation to paving the streets and drawing jurors.

—The old-time entertainment by the Fort Massachusetts Historical society and the Daughters of the American Revo-

not be forgotten.

THE DEER NUISANCE IN VERMONT.

More and more we note that the score of correspondents of THE WEEKLY TRANSCRIPT in southern Vermont report the plentifulness of deer. The sight of game is no longer a matter of news in the towns lying to the north and east of North Adams. It has become a matter of daily occurrence, whereas a few years since a wild deer was a rarity in this region.

There will be a thinning out of this game the coming fall, and Vermont farmers will be relieved of what has come to be a nuisance. For twenty years, deer hunting in the Green Mountain State has been forbidden under heavy penalties. In that time, they have so increased in numbers in the mountainous regions, that the farmers appealed to the legislature for such modification of the law as would result in the protection of their crops from the maraudings of these wild animals.

EXCELLENT ARRANGEMENTS

Made for the Baptist Sunday School Excursion to Saratoga.

George Darby was in Saratoga Thursday and made very excellent arrangements for the annual Baptist Sunday school excursion and outing to be held July 23 in Congress park. Among the many attractions arranged for will be admission to the "Pompeii" at half price, low-rate rides on the double electric to Saratoga lake and a very low rate by boat to Sulphur springs, and a low rate on the Mount McGregor railroad to Mount McGregor, made famous as the scene of General Grant's last days. Gantland's band will be at Congress park on the day of the excursion, and beautiful Hilton's park will be free to all.

The round trip ticket from North Adams to Saratoga will be $1, and the train will be an express to Saratoga, not stopping at stations after leaving Williamstown. At Johnsonville agents will get onto the excursion train to supply all who desire them with rate tickets to the various attractions mentioned above, giving all confusion after arriving at Saratoga. Mr. Darby also secured that the excursion train should not only be an express with right of way, but that it should be run at a uniform rate. Saratoga never looked more beautiful than now and this excursion will give many a delightful day at a small expense.

ANENT HAWAIIAN ANNEXATION.

The argument that Hawaii is too far from our shores to warrant annexation shows a lack of familiarity with geographical facts. Our Aleutian Islands in Alaska are 26 degrees of longitude further west. One of them, Attu by name, is only 400 miles from the coast of Japan, and it has a good harbor, an important naval inlet. In Unalaska, which is 1000 miles nearer than Hawaii to Japan, we own an excellent harbor. Over half of the Aleutians are geographically in Asia. They have a population of about 2000, and the natives are less intelligent than those of Hawaii. Holding the ports of Alaska and Hawaii, our navy would be in a position to defend our rights in the Pacific, and to restrain acts of aggression in that quarter. It would be an assurance of peaceful development, for the world understands that this country is not greedy for new territory. Hawaii is a commanding point in relation to our coasts and to the commerce of the Pacific, in which we are deeply interested, and its offer for annexation is a legitimate result of the situation.

A SERIOUS OUTLOOK.

Secretary of the Treasury Gage has just given out a very ominous prophecy. While it is dark, it is worth considering, and makes grateful the fact that France has struck hands with the United States for bimetalism. The secretary of the treasury says:

"The industrial depression has been terrible during the last four years. The secretary is quoted as saying, 'but had it not been the worst yet to come, in my opinion. I can see no promise of any relief until there are some radical changes in our currency system. There is no assurance that the financial conditions in this country will undergo any change prior to the campaign of 1900. The money you now have is as good as gold. If you invest it and wait a few years for your profits no man can say what kind of currency will be required for your investment. There is no confidence among business men anywhere. In the very nature of things there can be none until our currency is placed upon a safe and stable basis.'

LIQUOR DEALERS IN TROUBLE.

Summoned before the Board of Selection for illegal Selling.

Thursday the selection summoned Harry Donahue, McMahon & McAuley and George Mansuet & Co. to appear before them at a special meeting of the board to be held that evening. The first two were charged with selling liquor Monday which was a legal holiday and Mansuet & Co. were charged with the illegal selling of beer. Accordingly the men were before the board and a hearing was had, though the result is unknown. The selection when asked they had nothing for publication as yet. For some time people have been criticizing some of the saloon keepers in regard to illegal selling and especially Sunday selling.

More Room Needed.

The school authorities are busy these days devising a plan for the accommodation of pupils at the opening of school in September. Last year the buildings, especially at Renfrew and Commercial street were over crowded and something must be done. Thus far the changes are that at Renfrew new grades be established in the Renfrew school in that part of the building formerly used as a music hall. At Liberty street grades will be opened in the academy in the room formerly occupied by the high school and more scholars will be sent from Commercial street to this building. More teachers will have to be procured and it is hoped in this way to avoid over crowding of the different grades.

A Bad Accident.

A bad accident occurred on Summer street this morning. Smith Gage who conducts a milk route was turning his team on the corner of Hubbard street when the neckyoke on one of the horses broke and the wagon ran onto the horses heels and frightened them. They started to run and tipped the wagon over. In the spill the pole of the wagon protruded into the front shoulder muscle, tearing it and injuring the horse severely. The other animal escaped uninjured. About 200 quarts of milk were lost.

Matched For a $50 Purse.

A 100 yards foot race has been arranged between James Callahan of this town and James O'Brien of North Adams for $25 a side. At the Foresters' field day in North Adams Monday both men were in the same heat in the 135 yards handicap. O'Brien had a yard start of Callahan but the latter won. Some talk was had by the runners and as a result this above match was made. The race will occur at Zylonite in three weeks and much money will be wagered on the result. Callahan's friends feel certain of his victory and say they will back him heavily.

Off For Europe.

Quite a number of local people are preparing for a trip to Europe. Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morton and Miss Anna McKenzie will sail from New York for Glasgow, Scotland, on the steamship Anchora of the Anchor Line. Miss Agnes Morris left last week on the Umbria, Cunard line, for Scotland. Mrs. Harris Steinberg and family are expected from Russia today. All of the above persons purchased their tickets through Jones & Smith's agency.

Chorus Supper.

The ladies of St. Thoma's church will serve a 10-cent supper at the old St. Charles' church next Saturday from 4 to 8 o'clock p.m. It will consist of all kinds of meats, bread and pastries and will be sure to appease the hunger of the best eaters. The proceeds will be added to the new church fund. All are cordially invited.

Cecilia Club Meetings.

The last meeting of the season of the Cecilia club will be held with Miss Jennie Simmons at her home this evening. It will take the nature of a social and the evening will be spent with games and other pleasantries.

The Park street changes are going on nicely and when finished it will be a decided improvement.

Peter McBride of Benfrew will play with the new North Adams baseball team as will also Joe Ruddy.

Rev. Mrs. Moran and McGrath are in retreat at Holy Cross college in Worcester. As soon as the free delivery system goes into effect at the local postoffice a special delivery messenger will be engaged.

The marriage is announced of Frank Potter of this town and Miss Anna McQueen of North Adams.

Harris Richmond is home for the summer vacation.

A daughter was born to Mr. and Mrs. L. A. Jenson of Orchard street Monday.

The recently elected officers of Foresters of America, Court Adams, No. 116, were installed by District Deputy Chief Ranger J. B. Donovan of North Adams last night. Miss Lillian Carrier left for her home in Athol this morning after a visit with her sister, Mrs. George Getty, of Jordan street.

The desks and other furniture to be used in the free delivery service has arrived and is being placed at the post-office.

EDITOR TRANSCRIPT:—As the last communication to your columns in regard to the West Cumington postoffice contained some false statements, will you allow me a short space to correct that which affects me personally?

The petition that I should be postmaster was originally signed by Republicans only. Among its signers were the three selectmen of the town and three Grand Army men. With the exception of two of the selectmen, all were patrons of this office. The protest in favor of the nominal incumbent of the office contained a large number of names as it was signed largely by Democrats and also by women and those tarrying in the place temporarily. After this protest was issued, several more expressed a desire to sign my petition and, accordingly another petition was circulated in my favor which gained more new names than were on the original petition. Among these signers were another Grand Army man and a prominent ex-representative to the legislature. All who signed were legal voters and patrons of the office. The women and minors were asked to sign the list of indorsees. A very large majority of them were Republicans. The personal spite mentioned exists mostly in your correspondent's imagination. As to the secrecy of the affair, there has been talk of changing postmasters since the past office was illuminated at the time of the Bryan rally in the last campaign. Now, in closing, let me ask how four-fifths of the voters who were patrons of this office could have protested against my being postmaster, when almost one-half of the regular patrons who were legal voters added their names to my petitions? I leave it as a problem in mathematics for the public to solve. Respectfully,

JOSEPH W. TIERRELL.

The house adopted the special order and agreed to Dingley's motion to non-concur in the senate amendments and agree to a conference. Speaker Reed appointed the following conference on the tariff bill. Representatives: Dingley, Payne, Dalzell, Hopkins, Groveson, republicans; Bailey, McMillin and Wheeler, democrats.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called Grain-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

The Cornwell Case--Young Ladies Tramping--An Old Timer.

The Cornwell Case.

Sheriff Eldridge has received a letter from W. H. Cornwell, father of Lee Cornwell, who is awaiting trial in Pittsfield on the charge of fraud. Lee Cornwell is the young man who passed a number of drafts in this town some time ago which proved to be worthless. He was arrested and held for the grand jury and was taken to jail in default of bonds. Later his father came here and made good the losses of those who had been defrauded, and now he has been laboring with District Attorney Gardner in the hope of getting his son off without further prosecution. In his letter he stated to Sheriff Eldridge that he thought the district attorney would be willing to drop the case if the people of Williamstown were satisfied, but Sheriff Eldridge proposes to see the district attorney himself and give him all the facts in the case, so that whatever he decides to do may be done with full knowledge of the facts and not on the representations of an interested party.

An Old Timer.

Joseph Canady of Northfield, Minn., is visiting his nephew, W. L. Crozier, for a few days and will spend some time in this vicinity. He is a native of Halifax, Vt., and formerly lived in Readboro and Stamford. He went west 40 years ago. Mr. Canady is 88 years old and is remarkably preserved for a man of his years. He has offered to throw any man of his age in the town where he lives and believes he can do it. Mr. Canady is accompanied by his daughter-in-law and is greatly enjoying his visit to the familiar scenes of long ago.

Young Ladies Tramping.

Half a dozen students of Mt. Holyoke college, who are taking a tramp through this part of the country, reached town Wednesday and walked to the summit of Greylock Thursday guided by Marcus White of Williams college. The young ladies seem to be enjoying their novel journey very much.

The closing session of Miss Hart's dancing class was held Thursday afternoon and was attended by a good number of the parents of the pupils. The term has been very successful.

Amos Jackson is seriously ill and under the care of Dr. Hull.

Invitations are out for the wedding of Rev. Warren Morse, formerly pastor of the White Oaks church, who is soon to marry a Stamford, Conn., young lady.

Sheriff Eldridge went to Adams Thursday to make an attachment in favor of R. K. Allsop of this town.

Mrs. John B. Kellogg and daughter have gone to the seashore for two months.

W. C. Hart, who had been visiting his mother, has returned to New York.

Mr. Skoog of Boston is visiting his sister, Mrs. Charles Seely.

Mr. Maule of New York is visiting at Dr. A. L. Perry's.

Mrs. Charles Foote of Pasadena, Cal., is visiting her brother, Charles S. Cole.

Miss Theodore Paine of Troy, Pa., is a guest at the home of Dr. John Bassom.

Mr. and Mrs. A. W. Doolittle of New York have been stopping at the Greylock this week. Mr. Doolittle was at one time a member of the class of '94, Williams college.

A. J. Daniels has the foundation of the D. K. E. house nearly completed. Work on the superstructure will be pushed rapidly as soon as the foundation is done.

C. K. Ober, Williams '83, and now general secretary of the Chicago Young Men's Christian association, is in town attending the meeting of the general committee of the World's Student Christian Federation.

What Do the Children Drink?

Don't give them tea or coffee. Have you tried the new food drink called Grain-O? It is delicious and nourishing and takes the place of coffee. The more Grain-O you give the children the more health you distribute through their systems. Grain-O is made of pure grains, and when properly prepared tastes like the choice grades of coffee but costs about 1/4 as much. All grocers sell it. 15c. and 25c.

EDITOR TRANSCRIPT:—As the last communication to your columns in regard to the West Cumington postoffice contained some false statements, will you allow me a short space to correct that which affects me personally?

The petition that I should be postmaster was originally signed by Republicans only. Among its signers were the three selectmen of the town and three Grand Army men. With the exception of two of the selectmen, all were patrons of this office. The protest in favor of the nominal incumbent of the office contained a large number of names as it was signed largely by Democrats and also by women and those tarrying in the place temporarily. After this protest was issued, several more expressed a desire to sign my petition and, accordingly another petition was circulated in my favor which gained more new names than were on the original petition. Among these signers were another Grand Army man and a prominent ex-representative to the legislature. All who signed were legal voters and patrons of the office. The women and minors were asked to sign the list of indorsees. A very large majority of them were Republicans. The personal spite mentioned exists mostly in your correspondent's imagination. As to the secrecy of the affair, there has been talk of changing postmasters since the past office was illuminated at the time of the Bryan rally in the last campaign. Now, in closing, let me ask how four-fifths of the voters who were patrons of this office could have protested against my being postmaster, when almost one-half of the regular patrons who were legal voters added their names to my petitions? I leave it as a problem in mathematics for the public to solve. Respectfully,

MANAGEMENT OF SKIRTS.

They Are Now Much Narrower--Spring Walking Costume.

A great deal of thin goods--mousseline de soie, crepe de chine and gauze--is employed for evening wear. This kind of material is sometimes troublesome to the amateur dressmaker, as, in common with thin silks and satins, it has a tendency to make a full seam on the machine, like a band of stitching. The best way to avoid this is to baste the two edges of the seam together and then baste on in addition a strip of stiff, thin paper. The stitching includes the paper, which prevents the seam from gathering up full, and the paper can be torn out afterward, leaving the seam clear and smooth.

The larger part of the stiffening of skirts has disappeared in Paris. Of course American modistes always exaggerate styles and are loath to relinquish them; but, as a matter of fact, skirts are much diminished abroad. There is still a little stiffening used just enough to sustain the hem and keep the character of the small godets that remain, but its depth and force are greatly diminished. The lightest quality of crinoline is used, crinoline meaning genuine haircloth, of course, for nothing else retains its body. Four or

MUSHROOM RAISING.

How the Industry Originated in France, Its Present Extent.

It was noticed when Milan beds were first made in France that quantities of mushrooms grew on the fresh earth mounds. They proved to be so profitable that investigations were made to ascertain whether a regular crop might not be obtained. They have succeeded very well, and the mushroom industry is today quite a profitable one, and the consumption of mushrooms in France is something enormous.

The beds are made as follows: A dry, clean place is selected. One near the mouth of a cave is preferred, as the sunlight does not reach them. The spot is covered with manure and then left undisturbed for a few days. The bed is then worked over and pressed and beaten down into shape. This is allowed to remain about a week, at the end of which time the process is repeated and the beds watered. At the end of another week the first turning must be repeated and the mass allowed to rest for three days.

The temperature is carefully watched, and the first heat of fermentation is allowed to pass off before the spawn is sown. After this has been planted the beds are covered thinly with a prepared earth called goptage. It is kept quite moist for 40 days, at the end of which time the mushrooms begin to come up. A continuous crop for three months may be expected, if the beds receive the proper care. The seed, or spawn, is obtained by the market gardeners. It is made into bricks or cakes, which will be good at the end of two or three years, if kept in a dry, airy place.

How to Preserve Furs.

There are various ways of preserving furs against moths. At one establishment it was said that they had found the best means to be constant attention. The furs were carefully inspected and then put away, not in chests with preservatives for the summer, but in light, dry closets, and at frequent intervals until they were again required for use they were carefully inspected. They were returned in the fall in as perfect condition as when they were received, and without any of the odors often noticeable about furs when first taken out of storage.

How to Launder Organdie and Swis.

After washing and drying the clothes make about a quart of thin raw starch by dissolving a tablespoonful of dry starch in a quart of water. Dissolve a little soap in the mixture by rinsing a small bar of white soap in it until it is soapy. Test the starch by wetting a little of the cloth in it and ironing it while it is still wet. If the cloth is not stiff enough, use more dry starch in mixing it.

Wring out the article in the raw starch, and after thoroughly clapping it lay it in a sheet and roll it up firmly. In an hour run it out on the wrong side. If the lawn is dark colored, it must be starched with glue. Dissolve a tablespoonful of common glue in a quart of boiling water, and when the lumps are gone stir it into a two gallon pailful of warm water. Starch the goods in the mixture, after testing it to obtain exactly the proper consistency for the goods when done up. Dry the article starched in glue starch and sprinkle it and roll it.

Iron it carefully on the wrong side. It is a great mistake, even in the present time of the revival of starch, to make dresses or petticoats too stiff. They should be stiffened to the consistency of new cloth. Petticoats may be a trifle softer, but they should not be stiff enough to rattle.

How to Bake Bananas.

Peel the bananas and lay them on a buttered biscuit pan, leaving a space between each one. Mix 8 tablespoonfuls of cherry wine or lemon juice with 8 tablespoonfuls of sugar and 9 of butter. Place the dish containing the mixture in a pan of hot water to hold the butter. Put the pan holding the fruit in a moderate oven and bake for half an hour, basting the bananas with the prepared butter until it is all used.

How to Treat Neuralgia.

Neuralgia people are always sensitive to changes of temperature and sudden chills, and to avoid the risk of these they should wear woolen underclothing. Very often neuralgia is complained of when, in reality, the half forgotten stump of an old tooth is at the root of the matter. If there is any doubt about it, a visit to a good dentist would decide the question once for all.

In cases of acute neuralgia relief may be afforded by rubbing together equal parts of chlorel and powdered camphor and painting the painful spot with it.

Many people cannot take quinine, but those who can will find it the best remedy of all.

A local application said to be very effective also is equal parts of benzoin and peppermint oil. It may be rubbed on the affected part, or a cloth wrung out of hot water may be sprinkled with it.

How to Make Lye.

Lye is an excellent thing to keep on hand for scrubbing. To make it, dissolve a box of potash in hot water. Let it settle and drain off in a jug. A spoonful or two of this in a bucket of water makes an excellent scrubbing mixture.

How to Cook Without Wine.

One of the best substitutes for wine in cookery is boiled cider. It is well for the housekeeper to know that sweet cider can be bottled for use. Boil and pour hot into bottles and seal. Use in making fruit cake, plum pudding, mince pies and pudding sauces.

How to Test Eggs.

A bad egg can be told by the way it rests in the water--always up, never on its side. Any egg that lies flat is good to eat and can be depended upon.

BUSINESS MEETING

Of the General Committee of the World's Student Christian Federation.

BEING HELD IN WILLIAMSTOWN

All Nations' Except Russia Represented. Some Things About the Federation. The Officers Elected. The Committee Takes a Ride.

A meeting of the general committee of the World's Student Christian federation is being held at the Greylock in Williamstown. The federation is composed of the American Intercollegiate Young Men's Christian associations, the British college Christian union, the German Christian Students' alliance, the Scandinavian University Christian movement, the student Christian movement in mission lands, the Intercollegiate Young Men's Christian associations of India and Ceylon, the Australasian Students' Christian union, the College Young Men's Christian associations of China, the Students' Young Men's Christian association union of Japan and the Students' Christian association of South Africa.

The federation was formed about two years ago at a meeting in Sweden of the representatives of the Christian student movements of Great Britain, Germany, Scandinavia, the United States and Canada, the students' Christian movement in mission lands and the other bodies came in the course of an 18 months' tour of General Secretary John R. Mott of New York, who returned last spring after visiting all the student centers of the world except in Russia.

All of the bodies in the federation are represented in this meeting. They have been attending the world's students' conference at Northfield, and the general committee went to Williamstown to hold an executive session. The following officers were elected: Chairman, Karl Fries; vice-chairman, Mr. Ibuka, president of a college in Japan; general secretary, John R. Mott of New York, senior college secretary of the American movement; treasurer, Stanley Wright of the British college Christian union.

Among those present are: Messrs. Ding of China, Eekhoff of Norway, Heyer of Australasia, Oalkoen and Searuter of Holland, Thomas and Lenoir of Switzerland, Witt von Perlson and Quart of Germany, Ibuka of Japan, Wright and Williamson of Great Britain, Arupthware and Wilder of India, McGregor and Murray of South Africa, Chazol of France, with numerous representatives of the American movement.

Thursday afternoon the delegates took a ride in trolley-car over Bee hill and through Torrey's woods and were charmed with the beauty of the scenery. The meeting was continued today.

A book by General Secretary John R. Mott, giving the details of his tour to the student centers of the world, has just been issued from the press of Fleming H. Revell, New York. It is entitled "Strategic Points of the World's Conquest," and is meeting with a favorable reception in religious circles.

Mrs. David Cary.

Laura, wife of David Cary, died Thursday afternoon at her home, 28 Washington avenue, aged 73 years. She had been ailing for some time, but her death was largely due to old age.

Mrs. Cary was born at Colrain, her maiden name being Laura Lamb. She was married to Mr. Cary when a young woman and for many years past her home has been in this city, where Mrs. Cary was known by many as a person of most estimable character and kindly life. She had been for years a member of the Methodist church and her life was that of an earnest and conscientious Christian. She was highly esteemed by many acquaintances and friends who feel that by her death they have sustained an irreplaceable loss, and the sympathy of all goes out in large measure to the aged and bereaved husband. Besides her husband Mrs. Cary leaves two sons and a daughter, Charles and William Cary, who live in the West, and Mrs. Lucy Strong of Northampton, whose privilege it was to be with and care for her mother in her last days.

The funeral will be attended from the house Saturday afternoon at 2 o'clock and the interment will be in Southview cemetery.

DAVIS WAS A HERO

Lost Through the Despairing Cry of a Strange Boy.

SUNK FIVE FEET FROM SHORE

The Beaumier Boy Caught Him Frantically By the Throat. When Death Relaxed the Grip Young Davis Was Exhausted.

The drowning accident in which "Eddie" Davis, 18, recent y of Blackinton lost his life is said by a Manchester, N. H., paper to be one in which "George Beaumier went down to an unfortunate end, and Edwin A. Davis to a heroic death. Davis died in a brave and persistent attempt to rescue the other boy." Young Davis was well known in Blackinton and moved with his family to New Hampshire only last winter. His tragic death is lamented in this section. The New Hampshire paper says:

"The scene of the accident was a swimming hole some distance above the bobbin factory, and only a little way below Groux's island and were said to be strangers to each other. Davis was standing on the shore, preparing to dress, when Beaumier, who was out in the middle of the river, said, 'My God,' or something that had that sound, and appeared very evidently to have been attacked with a cramp."

"Davis heard the cry and went into the water again like a flash. Before the others knew that anything had occurred he was half way out towards the young boy and had soon reached his side. Unfortunately Davis did not realize how frantic are the struggles of a dying man. Beaumier immediately clutched Davis with both hands around the throat and with so strong a grasp that the marks remained there plain after death. Davis was unable to relax this grasp and both men went down out of sight several times. Beaumier besides being the younger was the more exhausted and finally sunk for the last time, while Davis shook off his clutch and feebly started for the shore. Had help been at hand he could have been easily drawn in, but no one was there to offer assistance at this moment. Those who were present were either too small or too frightened to be of the least use, so Davis gave a gasp and went down to his watery grave five feet from shore, so close to the shore that his body was finally reached with an oar. The body was warm when it was taken up, and some declared that he breathed afterwards, but all efforts at restoring life were in vain. Doctors, policemen and bystanders worked over him as hard as possible, but without avail."

The funeral was largely attended and the funeral tributes were unusually numerous.

STRUCK ON HIS HEAD.

A Conductor Thrown From an Electric Car and Badly Hurt.

Charles F. Amidon of Nashua, N. H., formerly of this city, was badly hurt July 5. He is a conductor on the trolley road running from Nashua to Lowell, and while at work last Monday on a crowded car he made a misstep and lost his balance and was thrown to the ground. He struck on his head and shoulder and was rendered entirely helpless. Mr. Amidon was taken to the home, where an examination by doctors showed that no bones were broken and that there was no fracture of the skull. The doctors ordered the patient to be strictly quiet and said if there were no unexpected developments he would be all right in a short time. He is still confined to his house. Mr. Amidon is a son-in-law of Henry A. Tower of this city.

A JOLLY GOOD TIME.

A Clam Bake Was Enjoyed at Hoosac Valley Park Thursday Evening.

The Order of Eastern Star had its annual picnic Thursday evening, which this year took the form of a clam bake at Hoosac Valley park. There was an attendance of nearly 100 and the occasion was most enjoyable in all respects. The weather was perfect for an evening outing and the supply of clams was ample to satisfy the large company to the full. The concert by the Hungarian band was a treat to all and after passing a very happy evening the members returned home by special car at 10 o'clock.

An Aged Visitor.

Joseph Canedy, who was a resident of Stamford, Vt., 40 years ago, with his daughter-in-law, Mrs. Millard Canedy, of Dundas, Minn., is visiting his nephews and nieces in this city. Mr. Canedy is 86 years old but is still a young-looking man and looks to be much this side of three score years and ten as he is in reality past it. He is well remembered by many of the older people of this community.

JACK DOOLEY'S STORY

A Friend of Lawson Makes Some Interesting Explanations.

M. E. COUCH ON DOOLEY'S CLAIM

The First Baseman Tells of Baseball Muddle as He See It. Explains Lawson's Absence and Declares Al. to Be Square.

The present baseball muddle is attracting so much interest that it seems as if all stories of the affair will be given a hearing. Up till the present no representative or friend of Al. W. Lawson has spoken or been given room to speak for the public. Jack Dooley, to whom Mr. Lawson has transferred whatever interest he believes himself possessed in Lawsonian field and the equipment of the baseball team tells a story to a TRANSCRIPT representative which is in substance as follows:

Lawson has not made any money out of the ball team, nor has he left town permanently, neither is he much in debt. He has worked hard for months to establish a ball team on a paying basis and now is to be cut out by men who have done little for the sport and hope to fall into possession of all Lawson has accomplished, without paying a penny for it.

What did Lawson get out of the business? He was able to sell only 63 season tickets at $10 each, and some of them were not paid for. The proprietor of the Howland gave him $150 to help pay for ground improvements and he got $100 or so for the advertising privilege on the fence. That was practically all he got from the business men, who now lay claim to it all, and he got what more was necessary to keep him afloat from his friends. In services and other ways about 5000 of mine was put into the place. As to what the thing cost him a few items will show. I have here a receipt for the building of the grand stand by Peacor, which cost $410. Haskins' charged $100 for the poles of the fence and the placing of them. The fence cost very cent of the $150 that Donahue contributed and the grading cost over $100. The uniforms cost over $100, then was heavy expense for printing and a ticket seller and taker had to be maintained at the grounds. It cost $20 a month for a watchman and care-taker of the grounds and there was no end of paying for balls, bats and any number of extras.

It will be remembered how poor the weather was when Lawson opened his games. The attendance was small and there were no gate receipts to make anybody rich. The heavy salaries of the men were going on and incidental expenses had to be met. Just what was paid for salaries is shown from the salary list of the men as it stood recently. Soharr got $70 a month, Summers, $70, O'Brien $60, Ralby $60, Drew $60, Sullivan $50 and McCann $100. This paid heavily on the gate receipts and didn't leave much, you may be sure, for Lawson to skip with. It is a fact that had it rained on Decoration day the North Adams team would have disbanded for want of money to carry the thing through, but there was a little luck with Lawson then.

Yes, sir, the men were paid their salaries up till July, and I'll show you receipts for the money if you want to see them. I don't believe the story that some of the men had no money to buy their breakfast Wednesday morning. How could that be when they got paid their big salaries a day or so before. You can't say that Lawson is to blame for McCann leaving an unpaid board bill and some of the others having to live on charity if Lawson gave them their money up to date. What became of the money?

Lawson didn't intend to skip. You ask Curran, manager of the Renfrews, Appel of Dalton or McLaughlin of Pittsfield if what I say isn't true. After making an agreement with the players on Tuesday, which I will tell you about, Lawson started Wednesday morning for Pittsfield to arrange for the county league he had planned. He believed the league to be the only thing that would put life in the sport. I went with him. We met Curran at Adams and when we got to Cheshire, Lawson telegraphed to Appel to be at the Pittsfield house sure at 9 o'clock. When we got to Pittsfield, Lawson telephoned to Appel to be sure of him, and when Appel arrived McLaughlin had not come. We waited for McLaughlin a while and then started out to hunt him up. When we found McLaughlin he said he had changed his mind about entering a league and this disturbed Lawson. Lawson and McLaughlin argued for a while and we left without accomplishing anything.

This discouraged Lawson. He went off by himself to think matters over and the rest of us went playing pool. About that time the forenoon train from North Adams came in and Lawson was told of the rumors that were current in North Adams, of how it was said he skipped out with a female companion, how local men were preparing to take hold of his grounds and team and how it was said he had "skinned" his men. That was all Lawson could stand and he threw everything up. I had a claim of $278 against him and he turned over his lease and all his interest and papers to satisfy my claim, telling me to go ahead and run the team and that he would be back in two weeks to help things out if he could. The reason why my claim was down to $273 was because Lawson was man enough to pay me a little now and again, as he could. He paid everybody and does not owe more than $125, which he never intended not to pay. He had so much intention of coming back to North Adams from Pittsfield as he ever had of returning to this city.

I'll push my claim, of course I will. If this lease is broken, C. A. Howland was the first man to break it and so there is no surrender of improvements to Mr. Howland. I have engaged Mark E. Couch to look after my interests and my lawyer says I have a clear case. These fellows, who want to take possession of Lawson's little property and the sentiment in favor of baseball that he has created by hard work since last November against the abuse of croakers and jealous individuals these fellows who are doing their best to ruin baseball here, will find me with them. It's a rotten game.

I'll tell you about that deal Lawson made with the players. It was made Tuesday at the Mansion over a few bottles of lager when there was no cry for breakfast. Lawson said to the boys: "Boys I can't carry this thing any longer. I'll tell you what I'll do. I'll go on managing this thing as usual and will run it on shares. If you don't want to trust me on the divide elect two men from your own number to take care of the finances and see what things are done on the square." The men asked Lawson about the few days salary due from the first of the month and Lawson said they could take that out of his share as fast as it came in. "But" said the players, "there may not be enough to pay our board." "I'll guarantee your board," Lawson replied, and the meeting ended in the best of feeling.

Lawson thought he was beginning to see daylight and started for Pittsfield the next morning determined to push the sport to success.

Summer luxuries

Don't think of going through this summer without certain needed articles, among which are a straw hat, a palm leaf fan, and a piece of rattan furniture.

Have as many pieces of rattan as your house and purse will permit one is an essential, two will be a luxury. The cost is small; you can reach the borderland of luxury by this route very inexpensively.

There is no summer furniture like rattan: it is warmly associated with the period of youth; yet, like the man who blew his hand to warm it and his soup to cool it, rattan cools and warms alike, but its cooling mission brings it warmest praise.

Rattan furniture is light, but almost indestructible by ordinary wear: it is the cleanest of all furniture; it is the coolest; it is the most inexpensive, and, unlike any other, it harmonizes with all colors and styles of furnishings.
